

Terms and Conditions

1.1 General Eligibility and Account Use

Users of the BlueDiesel kiosk platform, portable refill app, and related digital services must be at least 18 years old and legally capable of entering into binding agreements.

Customers must provide accurate, current, and complete registration, billing, and payment information and must keep that information updated.

BlueDiesel may refuse, suspend, limit, or terminate access to the app, kiosk, wallet, or dispensing services where it reasonably suspects fraud, misuse, unlawful conduct, tampering, chargeback abuse, false claims, unauthorized account sharing, excessive refund behavior, attempted system interference, or any act that puts safety, payment integrity, or product purity at risk.

1.2 B2B Contractual Terms

Commercial agreements may be structured using volume-based pricing tiers, delivery schedules, account limits, and credit terms agreed in writing with the customer.

The customer must provide safe site access, suitable offloading conditions, compliant storage infrastructure, and any required personnel or safety escorts for delivery.

Risk in bulk product transfers to the customer upon custody transfer at the delivery point, subject to any non-excludable legal rights and any separately agreed written contract terms.

1.3 Retail and Kiosk Dispensing Terms

AdBlue dispensed through kiosks is supplied on an as-available basis and subject to station operating status, hardware availability, payment authorization, communications availability, and safety interlocks. Except as required by applicable law, BlueDiesel does not provide additional warranties beyond those that cannot lawfully be excluded.

The customer is solely responsible for selecting the correct product, the correct fill point, and a suitable receiving container. AdBlue must never be introduced into a diesel fuel tank. BlueDiesel is not responsible for loss arising from customer misfueling, use of non-compliant containers, pre-existing vehicle defects, or customer mishandling after the product exits the nozzle.

Customers using an external container must use a clean, dedicated HDPE or stainless-steel container suitable for AdBlue. BlueDiesel may refuse or stop dispensing where a container appears unsafe, contaminated, unsuitable, or non-compliant.

Risk of spill, loss, misuse, degradation, or contamination passes to the customer when the product exits the nozzle, except to the extent caused by BlueDiesel's proven fraud, gross negligence, wilful misconduct, or other liability that cannot be excluded by law.

1.4 Payments, Wallets, and Billing

The app may use wallet funding, pre-authorizations, payment holds, cards, e-wallets, QR payments, or other supported payment methods.

BlueDiesel may delay, reverse, reject, or cancel transactions where payment authorization fails, a pricing or system error is detected, a kiosk emergency stop is triggered, or abuse-prevention controls require review.

Refunds, reversals, and releases are processed according to the original payment channel and the relevant payment processor's operating rules. Banking and e-wallet clearing times may vary.

Customers must review transaction confirmations and report suspected unauthorized transactions promptly. BlueDiesel may require transaction details, receipts, account information, and supporting evidence before resolving a claim.

1.5 Acceptable Use and Anti-Abuse Rules

Users must not:

- Tamper with, damage, bypass, probe, or interfere with any kiosk, pump, QR code, payment terminal, meter, lock, valve, communications device, or safety system;
- Use bots, scripts, emulators, rooted devices, reverse engineering tools, or unauthorized automation to access the app or kiosk workflow;
- Create false accounts, share credentials, exploit promotions, repeatedly trigger dispute or refund flows in bad faith, or attempt to manipulate pricing, dispensing, or wallet balances;
- Upload malicious code, scrape data, or attempt unauthorized access to any BlueDiesel system;
- Use the services in a way that breaches any applicable law, regulation, or third-party right.
- BlueDiesel may log device, session, transaction, station, and security-event data for safety, fraud prevention, dispute handling, and legal compliance.

1.6 Limitation of Liability

To the fullest extent permitted by law, BlueDiesel's liability for kiosk or app claims is limited to the amount paid for the affected transaction or the minimum remedy required by law, whichever is higher.

Nothing in these terms limits liability for fraud, death or personal injury caused by negligence where liability cannot lawfully be excluded, wilful misconduct, or any consumer right or statutory guarantee that cannot be lawfully excluded or restricted.

1.7 Governing Law

These terms are governed by the laws of Malaysia. Any dispute may be referred to the courts of Malaysia, subject to any mandatory dispute resolution or consumer rights available under applicable law.
